

Huntley Film Archives now works exclusively out of our sole office in Herefordshire. For the few film researchers who regularly visited our old London office we are sorry to bring this to a close, but we offer viewing facilities in Herefordshire and are delighted one London-based researcher has already taken the opportunity to visit and stay. For clients in the Midlands, Wales, the West and North West we are now more conveniently situated.

Reduced overheads mean we have revised our rate-card and can pass the benefits to programme makers. Email caroline@huntleyarchives.com if you would like to receive a copy of the new rate-card.

Our website is about to be revamped, and researchers may continue to use the search facility the site offers. Email us your search results or requirements and we'll provide you with information on viewing.

We will continue to make our Youtube channel available and upload relevant clips and films to it.

Larger screener orders will still be fulfilled by us supplying DVD screeners at a nominal charge.

Major projects should see you visit and spend the day at our viewing facilities. Feel free to take advantage of the accommodation we can provide. Attached to the film archive is a Five Star holiday cottage we will make available at no charge to film researchers spending a couple of days with us.
