NBCUniversal Adds 30,000 News and Archival Screening Clips to Footage.net

NBC News has been a leading source of global news and information for more than 75 years. During that time they've amassed one of the world's truly great collections of news and historical footage, and the team at NBC News Archives is committed to helping producers access this invaluable production resource. Over the last few years, they've improved the quality of their content and services, tapped content from other brands in the NBCUniversal family, released previously unexploited material and are now making large amounts of news and archival footage available online. We're extremely pleased that over 30,000 of their news and archival preview clips are now available for screening through Footage.net, greatly expanding the quantity and quality of news content available for screening on our platform. And while their content is more readily available online today for professionals to search, screen and select clips, their team in New York remains focused on working directly with clients to deliver highly customized service and expert research to exploit over 70 years of content from one of the world's most respected news collection.

The Footage Search Collections Now On Footage.net

We're extremely pleased to welcome the Footage Search family of collections on board. Founded in 2002, Monterey-based Footage Search has the natural world covered with four unique, complimentary footage brands under one roof: OceanFootage, NatureFootage, Adventure Footage and 3DFootage. Sourcing footage from over 300 of the world's best marine, nature and adventure cinematographers, they've amassed the largest collection of underwater and ocean imagery online and a vast trove of stunning wildlife behavior, scenic locations, and extreme sports video from the earth's most beautiful locations. Most of their footage is native HD, and they offer both Rights Managed and Royalty Free license options. Footage Search offers quality personal service, along with online tools that allow for in-depth browsing by species, advanced search, video preview and online licensing. The diverse and visually stunning footage collections of Footage Search are now available for screening on the Footage.net platform.

Historic Adds 167,000 Music, Entertainment and Archival Clips to Footage.net

Historic Films Archives has an amazing collection of libraries, with particular depth in the areas of music, entertainment and celebrity footage, and the recent addition of their clips to the Footage.net platform greatly enhances and expands our depth in these content categories. Their collections include everything from Elvis Presley's first ever TV appearances to recent concert performances by Rihanna, Britney Spears and Amy Winehouse. With the launch of their new, fully streaming online website, Historic Films is able to offer immediate previews of thousands of hours of archival footage from their stock footage library and "priority access" to thousands more entertainment & musical performance clips for research, screening and downloading. Historic has been a longstanding member of the Footage.net family, and we're excited to bring their online preview clips to our worldwide user base for the first time. Over the years, the team at Historic Films Archives have distinguished themselves with both their historical expertise, as well as their commitment to the highest quality customer service. Their online screening capacities will only enhance their ability to help creative professionals make full use of their outstanding production resources.

NHNZ Moving Images Brings Lamberti Wildlife Collection Online

NHNZ Moving Images has launched the Lamberti Trust Collection, a major wildlife footage archive, on-line for the first time, adding a large volume of original South African mammal and underwater footage to the Moving Images archive. The Lamberti Collection is the result of over 100 environmental and wildlife films produced by wildlife enthusiast and visionary Peter Lamberti over 15 years, and will provide easily accessible, fresh content for documentary and factual productions around the world. These films cover a wide diversity of species and explore some of the most beautiful and remote places in Africa. Moving Images is a specialist stock footage archive delivering premium factual content to editorial and creative producers worldwide. Contact: Caroline Cook, Ph +64 (03)479 9832 Email ccook@nhnz.tv.
