

BBC's Countryfile profiles Huntley Film Archives

To Be Broadcast 24th March 2013 BBC One 7pm

We love visitors here at Huntley Film Archives, people come from far and wide, from the UK and the rest of the world, stay on our farm and settle down for a few days serious film research. So we were delighted when BBC's rural affairs programme "Countryfile" came to profile the work we do. Julia Bradbury toured our film vaults, chatted to the team : Amanda and Robert with Carol, Jolene and Andrew and tried her hand on the steenbecks.

Watch the finished report on 24th March BBC One 7pm

(There may be the odd llama reference as well)
